Pay scales depend on the experience and role undertaken. In theory, we could reduce any future imbalance by employing more male receptionists and resourcers which are the lower paid functions within the company, but as there is no discrimination it depends on who applies for the vacancies and who is the best person for the job. We do not intend to change our employment methods to artificially manipulate the figures for Gender Pay Gap reporting. I am sure during the next two years with the progress a number of our female employees are making the gap will naturally increase more in favour of female employees.
